

A spectacular photographic exhibition

combining the work of Mark Edwards and the lyrics of Bob Dylan

5 June - 16 August outside National Waterfront Museum, Swansea

HARD RAIN

OUR HEADLONG COLLISION WITH NATURE

Also featuring a specially commissioned photographic exhibition of local environmental projects by Welsh photographer David Woodfall

VITAL SIGNS SWANSEA

HARD RAIN is an extraordinary exhibition that combines images captured by the award-winning photographer Mark Edwards with the poetic lyrics of the legendary genius Bob Dylan to highlight major global issues such as climate change, poverty and wildlife extinction in a startling and original way.

VITAL SIGNS SWANSEA features photos by David Woodfall depicting projects in Swansea that contribute to sustainable solutions and show that local people are responding positively to the global challenges presented in Hard Rain.

These are FREE exhibitions and available for people to view at any time but group visits can be arranged or why not combine a visit with one of the many events taking place at the venue.

GROUP VISITS If you would like to arrange a guided visit of these exhibitions for a community group or work team, please contact Sustainable Swansea on 01792 480200.
